Major + Money + Me = College
Facilitator: Mickey Gilbert

Workshop Description: The beginning of a search for a college that fits the needs and wants of a student is one of the most important steps in the college search process. This workshop will encourage a student to choose what they want their college experience to look like. We will explore three distinct aspects of the process: MAJOR + MONEY + ME = COLLEGE.

Major: The student will choose from a list of 295 possible majors to study and explore. We will discuss Concentrations, Double Majors, Minors, and the “Undecided” choice.

Money: The student (and most likely the parent) will consider the varying costs of a four year college education. Together we will compare the differences between Private vs. State, Commuter vs. Resident, North vs. South. Scholarships, Loans, and Work Study programs will be explained and discussed.

Me: The ME section is very personal. The student will choose the type of school they want to attend. Through various exercises, the students will weigh choices such as: Urban vs. Suburban, Snow vs. Sun, Fraternities vs. Independents, and Small vs. Large.

... in Conclusion!
At this interactive workshop, open discussion in each section is welcomed and encouraged. Each student will actively work in their own workbook and leave the workshop with the crucial elements needed to begin their unique college search.

Anticipated workshop length: 1½ hours
